

SECOND MEETING IN REGGIO EMILIA

The second meeting of the TRAPREVI project partners took place in Reggio Emilia, Italy, at the end of late February 2014.

We have carried out two main tasks since our first meeting in November 2013. On the one hand, we have analyzed the Guide of Good Practices from which our project starts. Each country has chosen the topics more interesting for them and which are significant in their contexts. On the other hand, we have surveyed professionals working with youths in protection centers or in open environments to make a preliminary assessment of their needs with key informants.

One of the survey questions was: what do you expect from a training related to youth violent behavior? The set of responses showed that they feel they needed essentially a practical training which provide tools to solve the problems of everyday work.

Therefore, our objective from that moment on has been "Reorganizing" the Guide of Good Practices from which we started and beginning to build learning materials. Taking as axis the violent event we have set three thematic blocks or modules, which are:

I. Prevention, it includes teaching units with practical exercises aiming at the prevention of violent acts. Those responsible for its elaboration are Camino (Germany) and Aformac (France).

II. Intervention, the teaching units in this module will focus on the question of how to intervene when it is happening or has happened an aggression or violence event. Those responsible for its development are Altea-Spain (Spain) and Sos Latvia (Latvia)

III. Reflection, in this module we will try to analyze the violence events and the circumstances in which they take place and we will learn to prevent further occurrences. The responsible for this work are CEIS (Italy) and Siksaly (Estonia).

Our commitment is to produce record sheets containing practical exercises to help us improve our daily work.
