Année: 2008

Type de Projet: Projets de transfert d'innovation

Statut: Accordé

Pays: IT-Italie

Accroche marketing: Cartoon - Formation Animée est un projet qui a le but de faire connaître le potentiel de bande dessinée, illustration et animation liées à la formation

Résumé: The impact envisaged

Contemporary society is characterized by mass media communication, present in every cultural and professional activity: there is therefore a general need for people to be flexible to innovation and to communicate in an efficient and concise way. Cartoons (comics/animation/illustration) are useful and practical tools, mirroring a universal barrier-free language, able to facilitate qualitative permanent learning processes none the less are they already part of the framework of young people's communicative means.

This training initiative is legitimated by the aim of transferring and implementing the innovative results obtained from previous carried-out projects. Seen from this perspective, making use of cartoons (comics/animation/illustration) becomes a way for increasing European education and professional training quality and appeal.

The product this project aims at transferring, that is "animated training", already widely used in schools and various training contexts, has the possibility to overcome linguistic barriers and favour intercultural understanding. Comics, animations and videos, in their prismatic expressions, show that "animated training" is an efficient and reliable means of communication and effective tool. A new and efficient instrument will this way be implemented by transferring the above described product to new linguistic and socio-cultural contexts at a European level.

The transnational partnership established to carry out this project is made of training institutions and cartoon studies -creation production, development- schools, all benefiting of the newest technologies connected to training processes. University institutions have been involved to guarantee the scientific coordination of the activities and the dissemination of results in their specific fields: this contribution is extremely important as it represents a constant bridge connecting theory and practice.

The target group focuses on a broad spectrum of teachers, trainers and all the staff involved, at various levels and stages, in learning processes.

Beneficiaries of the project are learners involved in schools, universities and training courses in general. This is the reason why this training initiative wants to scientifically include images and communication between the current linguistic codes which are basically connected to oral and written communication.

Description: Cartoon - Animated Training is an innovative project that aims at revealing and implementing the big potential of means such as comics, illustration and animation in the field of training.

Produit 'Cartoon Animated Training Website'

Titre: Cartoon Animated Training Website

Type de Produit: Site Internet

Texte marketing: At <http://www.cartoonanimatedtraining.eu/> The website is a powerful tool for communication and collaboration between partners and a key means of dissemination of results of the project.

Description: <http://www.cartoonanimatedtraining.eu/>

The website contains all project informations and allows you to inform visitors of the objectives of the work program, results and activities (eg meetings). There is also an area where you can see downloads and download the products (books, comics, postcards, brochures, posters, reports of meetings ...) and an area where you can see the animations created by the project.

There is also a chat, a blog and a forum.

The site has been structured on several levels:

- 1) showcase: it aims at illustrating the project, news, schedules, documents, bibliography, site links;
- 2) Open community: community with discussion open to all discussion forums, chat and blog-specific;
- 3) Restricted Area: all operators of the project for the sharing and exchange of materials through virtual classrooms, discussion material, confidential forum, study circles, wikipedia to be constructed together with all stakeholders of the project mailing list
- 4) Section Podcasting: downloadable material available to users

Cible: Partners, teachers, trainers, students, institutional stakeholders.

Résultat: The website facilitates the collaboration within the partnership and shares the results of the project both on the inside and on the outside. It's an instrument of communication, distribution and dissemination.

Domaine d'application: The product has been used as a tool for work, as a community work and as a means of disseminating. It has been a tool for work through which the partners were able to improve their collaboration and leverage the capabilities of the Web to store and retrieve material. The website has been designed to enable a community of educators interested in the results of the project and in taking training products lively, to bring together professionals from different countries.

The site was also a popular feature on a large scale, as anyone with an interest on the subject was able to find information and useful references. The site was, in fact, supported by web marketing operation: link to the site from other sites (such as between those of all partners in the project home page), advertising the site with mailing list defined, creating a mailing list with site registration, indexing in major search engines.

Type de Produit: Procédure pour l'analyse et le pronostic des besoins de la formation professionnelle

Texte marketing: Animated training: the training methodology capable of responding in an innovative and comprehensive way to new and current training needs of teachers and trainers

Description: The Cartoon project is the challenge to turn a phrase, a play on words, into a European well-established practice. This book presents a preliminary research analysis that aims at evaluating the training needs of trainers. After an opening chapter where the research methodology is described (chapter 1) and the theoretical aspects of the autobiographical method are explained (chapter 5), results coming from interviews, questionnaires and autobiographical experiences of teachers will be presented (chapter 2, section 2, 3 and 4 for what concerns the Bulgarian and Turkish issue and chapter 8, section 1, for the Italian one). This essay will then propose an innovative research methodology moving from a qualitative analysis of the training phenomenon. The research will take into consideration the wide spectrum of teachers' relational skills which are considered fundamental to make the relationship between teaching and learning significant.

Cible: Teachers, trainers

Résultat: This book aims to develop a survey methodology and define the needs of teachers and trainers in the countries affected by the project. In this way you can understand exactly where the animated training can be a useful training tool and create an education that responds to the specific training needs of teachers in developing "alternative" teaching skills than the traditional ones that allow a better organization of teaching and facilitating communication with students.

Domaine d'application: This product is used to bring out the training needs of teachers to understand exactly how and where the animated training can be a useful training tool to meet the needs arising. The analysis carried out allows to gradually develop an innovative training method which meets the actual training needs.

Titre: Second book: Trasferimento del prodotto: interventi e testimonianze - Product transfer: statements and declarations

Type de Produit: Procédure pour l'analyse et le pronostic des besoins de la formation professionnelle

Texte marketing: Animated training: the development of a teaching method that helps teachers to become more attractive in their mode of training, increasing the quality and attractiveness.

Description: The second book aims at bringing the product of animated training and at highlighting the critical points of the training system for teachers, it points out some flaws in the training of teachers especially in terms of relationships and suggests that the instrument of animated training can help improve the relationship between teacher and students to reduce the distance between these two entities. The book analyzes previous projects that have already produced a breakthrough in the countries affected by the project and collects experiences and materials to continue the development of animated training and the development and dissemination of good practice. The transfer of innovation related to animated training produced inside the book by collecting experiences and materials from previous projects useful for developing best practices and creating of working groups on issues of training skills.

Cible: Teachers, trainers

Résultat: The product of animated training (accompanied in practice by a user manual for the trainer) helps teachers to become more attractive in their mode of training, increasing the quality and attractiveness of training.
The trainers are called to recognize, such as in a script, moments that are likely to impart knowledge and develop skills, passing a few effective "chunks" (groups of concepts), creating adequate "peek emotional state" and encouraging direct participation and "learning by doing".

Domaine d'application: The product is used to identify the modes of transf of teaching units developed in the animated training, to select and analyze the content and the innovative process of animated training to meet the emerging needs in education and training, including the feasibility transfer, to integrate (or certify) the innovative content inside systems and training practices from an European, national, regional, local or sectoral point of view.

Previous meeting (Peccioli)

Date 04.01.2009

Description The meeting, organized within the event to be held in Fiabesque Peccioli (PI), exploited the fact that some of the project partners Cartoon were present at this event and was therefore a good opportunity to make the first presentations and informal know. The meeting is served to the participating partners to perform the first informal presentations and to receive the first information about the project through some slides replicated later and in greater depth, even during the Start Up Meeting. The participation of the Mayor of Peccioli allowed to spread the initiative even at the institutional and local point of view.
