Are you a Vocational Educational Trainer (VET) or learner? Are you over 16? If yes, are you interested in developing innovative problem solving skills to support you professionally and personally?

We would like to offer you an opportunity to participate in an European project that aims to develop the creative thinking abilities of professionals and trainees who study or work in contemporary or traditional skills and crafts. We will offer free training to develop your creative thinking abilities as a worker and as a person, based on the use of Creative Thinking Techniques, a powerful tool for problem solving.

“Handmade Creative Thinking” is a project funded by the European Union and is being developed in Italy, the UK and Malta. Its main objective is to develop and implement a training module for professionals, VET trainers and students in the field of contemporary and traditional skills and crafts.

To do this, a focus group of interested individuals will be selected from each city and a preliminary study on the creative learning needs of each local group will be conducted during a series of workshops. The workshops will take place in the four cities participating in the project (Palermo, Bologna, London and Malta) and the final creative thinking module will be implemented with each local group.

The primary objective of the project is to develop the creative thinking skills of the participant and develop their ability to use creative thinking to find innovative, practical solutions to the challenges of modern life and working in the 21st century.

If you are interested in participating in our project, contact us by the 30th April 2010.
