On 18 June 2009 the European Parliament and Council ratified its Recommendations related to the institution of a European Credit System for Vocational Education and Training - ECVET. The ECVET system will allow, long term, the results of the learning of citizens to be made more transparent and will foster trans-national mobility in an area of permanent learning and the development of European cooperation in the education and training sector. For details, see the document <http://eur-lex.europa.eu/LexUriServ/LexUriServ.do?uri=OJ:C:2009:155:0011:0018:EN:PDF>

ECVET System for No borders in Tourism Hospitality European Training and Work (N.E.T.Work) is a project financed by the European Commission - Education and Culture DG – Lifelong Learning Programme. It is one of eleven ECVET pilot projects selected through the 2008 call for proposals “Projects to test and develop the credit system for vocational education and training (ECVET)”; these projects will contribute to the creation, testing and fine-tuning of practices and procedures the EU nations are defining to obtain a ECVET system

The specific objectives of the project are:

1. Analysis of the different professional profiles emerging from training actions in the hospitality sector (reception area) in terms of Learning Outcomes and Units
2. Definition and application of credits, to both the Learning Outcomes and the Units
3. Testing of the ECVET system within training pathways and/or mobility programmes in the partnership countries

The project is aimed at users of the training paths and of mobility in the tourism industry and subjects active in the definition of national and community training policies, training agencies and bodies, as well as the trade unions and employers' associations.

For more details, see the project website www.ecvet-network.eu and the ECVET projects www.ecvet-projects.eu

The first phase of Project N.E.T.WORK has been successfully concluded; this phase consisted in the description of the training profiles (Reception area) by each partner, through two steps and research methods:

- ✓ desk research, an analysis of the existing national repertoires (IFTS systems, EU repertoires, V.A.E. system, etc) in each partner country, with special focus

- on the vocational training system;
- ✓ field research: field observations and interviews of at least 5 operators filling those roles (according to hotel classification identified and shared in the previous desk research), for each partner country.

The second phase has begun: in order to have convergence among partners, the partnership will define a method of describing the learning outcomes and units, using as inputs the results and products of the previous preliminary research phase.

On 21st of October 2009 the 2nd National meeting on the theme exchange in catering industry and tourism was held in Maribor (Slovenia). The purpose of the event was to meet in one place and connect providers of jobs in the catering industry and tourism with young people who are graduating in the mentioned fields and other job seekers from all over Slovenia. The current situation in the labour market in these two sectors, working conditions, job vacancies and the opportunity to obtain scholarships were presented. The event concluded with a panel discussion titled "Prospects for a successful career in the catering industry and tourism", where experts and successful businessmen revealed to pupils and students their experience of building a successful career and the importance of good cooperation in the collective. They also highlighted different potential careers in the catering industry and tourism and the importance of lifelong career guidance. The opinion of most of the participants was that the catering industry and tourism are a great opportunity with extremely high potential for immediate employment.
