Labour Market in Touch: new non-routine skills via mobile game-based learning

A project funded with support from the European Commission

Would you like to try an innovative approach to adult training?

INTOUCH gives you the opportunity of experiencing mobile learning games for smart-phones. So, don't miss this free opportunity, participate in the INTOUCH learning LABs!

What is a learning LAB?

Within the INTOUCH project, a learning LAB is a short event, lasting a couple of hours, addressed to workers and employees from companies in the field of service sector, aimed at providing participants with a collective learning experience.

During the learning LAB...

During the learning LAB you will learn how to solve the most common problems you daily find at work, and you will improve your skills in the following TOP 10 AREAS for the future labour market:

1. Communication;
2. Planning;
3. Conflict management;
4. Openness to change;
5. Decision making;
6. Team work;
7. Flexibility;
8. Strategic thinking;

Try it!

INCREASING ADULT PARTICIPATION IN EDUCATION AND TRAINING

Mobile learning facilitators for non-routine skills development in SMEs

Group No: 122	CATEGORY OF THEMES: Develop strategies for lifelong learning and mobility
Issue 1	OBJECT: This visit will present the m-learning facilitator: a new European professional able to bring non-routine competences/practical key skills for performing non-routine tasks to SMEs via tailored mobile learning games.
Type of visit: VET	The m-learning facilitator will motivate SMEs to integrate learning with working life, providing continuous informal and individual learning to increase their competitive advantage. New generations of place-bound and busy employees will develop crucial non-routine skills. The m-learning facilitator is supported by properly developed technologies for empowering working adults, and is endowed with innovative tools covered in the Leonardo da Vinci "Innovat" project. The visit is supported by C4LIFE, one of the partners in the "Innovat" project. All partners of the project will bring their points of view from different parts of Europe.
19/10/2012-12/10/2012	WHO??: Participants will learn about: - the top 10 European skills for competitiveness: communication, planning, creative management, openness to change, decision-making, teamwork, flexibility, strategic thinking, initiative and learning improvement; - the m-learning kit: an open learning environment with much greater interest for adults: extensive use of working scenarios and dynamic interactive games; - use of e-VCs for cooperative learning. An online community and a wiki for sharing ideas on how to use skills among SME employees; - guidelines on how mobile technologies can be used for teaching, learning and empowering in SMEs.
19/10/2012-12/10/2012	WHAT??: Participants will: - be involved with tools for transforming companies into lean conductive workplaces; - attend seminars and take part in discussions to exchange professional experience with consultants from other European countries; - visit SMEs and attend presentations of good practice in promoting non-routine skills via use of mobile learning.
Number of places: 10 Minimum required: 5	WHERE??: - Company training managers, - directors of education and vocational training institutions, centres or providers, - directors of guidance centres, - head teachers, teacher trainers, - human resource managers, - pedagogical or guidance advisers, - representatives of education and training networks and associations, - representatives of educational services, labour offices or guidance centres.
Keynote: - innovative approaches - key competences - learners' and trainers' competences	DESCRIPTORS IN THE HOST COUNTRY'S LANGUAGE: Il mercato del lavoro nel prossimo futuro richiederà di saper affrontare al meglio i cosiddetti compiti "non routinari", ovvero di mettere a frutto le competenze trasversali, risolvendo i problemi in maniera autonoma e attraverso un uso superiore delle capacità comunicative ("non routinarie"). Il nuovo m-learning facilitator consentirà ai lavoratori - con molta responsabilità e poco tempo a disposizione - di accedere a percorsi di formazione flessibile in maniera online ed attrattiva, utilizzando in pratica competenze comunicative attraverso l'uso innovativo dei mobile learning, in sintonia in grado di creare ambienti didattici aperti e di promuovere il cambiamento all'interno della impresa.
