

Online tutorials on EQF and ECVET application in VET praxis

Video tutorials

These are for VET professionals and highlight, in a straightforward way, how practical daily challenges can be addressed by using the European instruments. All the videos tell short stories about using the European instruments e.g. an entrepreneur who needs to fill an open position in his company; an HR professional, and an education manager at a regional training institution who are looking for ways to attract and train young people for work in transport and logistics; and two programme managers in VET providers who are looking for ways that they can benefit from applying a European approach to their work. The videos demonstrate the practical and concrete challenges professionals face in their day-to-day work which can be addressed by using the European instruments. In some cases the terms “EQF” and “ECVET” are not used in the videos – this helps to keep the focus on addressing the issues or problems facing the different target groups.

The videos are designed to be used by those who have a ‘multiplier effect’ in their system e.g. the national ECVET experts. The problem-focused nature of the videos helps to introduce VET and HR professionals to the European instruments and how they can support them in their daily practice. The videos, as well as the other euVETsupport tools, are available in different European languages. They can be accessed on the euVETsupport portal and on YouTube. The videos cover the following topics:

The video tutorials have been developed in order to specifically address professionals/ learners with a rather low level of prior knowledge and experience with the European tools and with the purpose to introduce this target group to the purpose and mode of action of the European instruments.

The video tutorials are in addition available in all language versions on the euVETsupport YouTube channel at. <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCD4WSmjneFiOAO07lQfcj7g>.

Online tutorials and lectures in the euVETsupport learning area

The euVETsupport learning area has been set up in order to support more advanced professionals (with regard to EQF and ECVET implementation in their efforts to apply the European instruments). The euVETsupport learning area therefore hosts two different kinds of online tutorials

Video lectures

So far the following video lectures are available:

- Vorlesungsserie: "Berufsbildungspolitik in der Europäischen Union" (Sprache/ Language: Deutsch/ German) von Frau Prof. Dr. Sandra Bohlinger, Universität Osnabrück (DE)
- Webinar: Assessment and the Learning Outcomes Approach (language German/ Deutsch) Expert: Gerald Thiel, DE
- Further online lectures and webinar records are planned to be added.

Online courses

During the course of the euVETsupport project the following online courses have been developed:

Implementing ECVET mobility in praxis

This tutorial summarizes important aspects of ECVET and mobility. The course aims to stimulate reflection on (practical experience in using) ECVET and offers room for discussing the matter with others by sharing questions or experiences. Based on best practices and European recommendations the course intends to enable its participants to explore the potential added value of ECVET in international mobility

Tutored by KCH (NL) and 3S (Austria)

Understanding foreign qualifications within recruitment from abroad

This course will give you an introduction into using European tools within your companies recruitment efforts. It consists of a row of video presentation that will introduce you into the different tools, their modes of action, the added value you can generate from these tools and further information on vocational education and training in Europe and the European labour market that might be handy for you within recruitment from abroad.

Working with the learning outcomes approach ... its assets and its challenges

The online course "Working with the learning outcomes approach ... its assets and its challenges" intends to enable you to adapt your daily training praxis to European standards and in this way to make training praxis ready for the implementation of European tools. But learning outcomes orientation also aims to improve quality of vocational training as well as the attractiveness of vocational training programmes. The course, therefore, addresses not only the pure practical implementation of European instruments but provides the participants with opportunities and tools to increase quality of their VET courses and programmes and make them more attractive for learners due to increased quality and a European dimension. The course guides participants through an exemplary application of the learning outcomes approach in the own context of work. It has an estimated workload of about 20 hours and can be followed at own pace, individually or as a group of participants. A tutor accompanies the participants through the course.
